'HANDS OFF JORDAN', U. S. TOLD

Senate Battle On Horse Race Betting Monday

HARRISBURG (UP) — The General Assembly returns Monday to open what promises to be a turbulent Senate floor battle on legislation calling for a referendum on legalized horse race betting.

Senate GOP Floor Leader Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford) said a full scale debate would be held with a final vote on passage or rejection of the legislation to follow.

Sen. John H. Dent, Senate Democratic minority leader and co-sponsor of the bill, said he had "17 or 18" party votes to support the statewide referendum.

If true, the legislation would need at least eight or nine Republican votes to clear the chamber with the required 26 ballot majority."

Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R-Delaware), another co-sponsor, remained mum on how many GOP votes he has picked up for the measure, apparently fearing week end "pressure" if the names were revealed.

'Showdown' Meeting

House leaders also were cagy on what action they would take if the touchy referendum bill reached that chamber. Gov. George M. Leader has repeated an earlier stand on legal horse betting that he "wouldn't stand in the way" of putting the question to the people.

The governor faces a "showdown" meeting with legislative leaders from both parties Thursday in another effort to break the log jam of 200 administration bill program tied up in GOP dominated committees. But Republican leaders have indicated they will announce a program of their own before huddling with Leader.

The joint House-Senate Appropriations Committee hopes to complete budget hearings, winding up with the Welfare and Public Instruction departments by midweek. Completion of the hearings will signal appearance of appropriation bills to trim Gov. Leader's $1,604,000,000 budget request into the $1,500,000,000 framework promised by the GOP.

The House plans to hold its first four-day session in the Republican drive for a June 1 adjournment date. The Senate will go into longer sessions as the legislative work load increases in that chamber.

Sharp Upswing In Steel Demand Being Forecast

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The inventory cutting "binge" in the steel industry will end soon and a sharp upswing in steel demand will occur in the last quarter of this year, Tom Campbell, editor-in-chief of Iron Age Magazine, said Friday night.

Campbell, in a speech before the local chapter of the American Steel Warehouse Association, said the steel making rate for the second quarter would average close to 88 per cent of capacity and slide to about 80 per cent in the third quarter. The fourth quarter, he predicted, would see a sharp upturn in operations.

Campbell said the three-year labor agreement negotiated last year has given the steel industry a long-sought stabilization but the "initial stage has been painful" for the steel makers.

Most consumers of flat rolled products are paring their inventories "to the bone" and steel companies are being used as "warehouses" by their customers, he said.

While cut-backs by the auto industry and other users of light sheet have resulted in the easiest situation among these products than at any time since 1954, he said, demand has continued heavy for heavy steels such as plate, structural steel and pipe.

Television Tube Halts Shipping

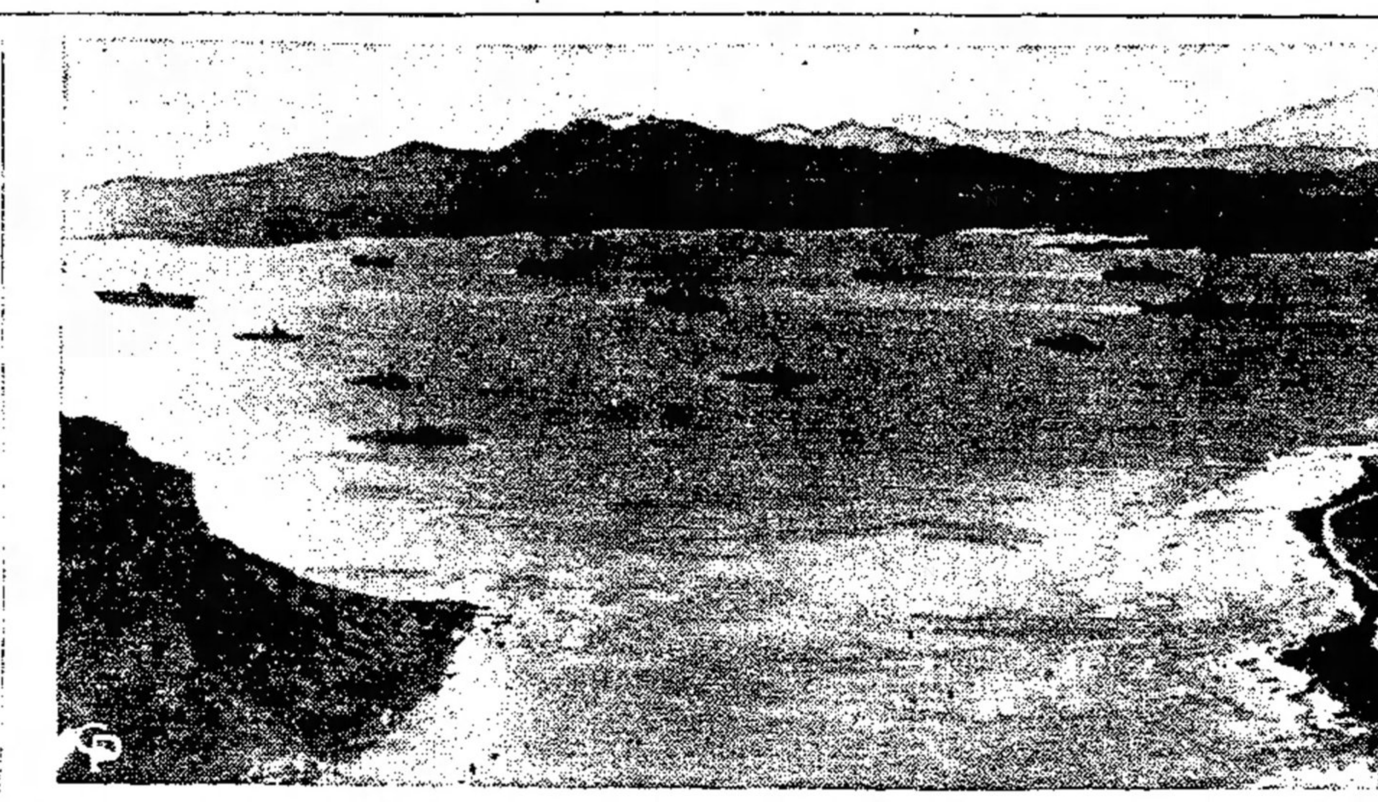
NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—A television tube adrift in the busy port of Hampton Roads halted all ship traffic for three hours Friday night.

The Navy and Coast Guard ordered traffic halted after two vessels reported seeing an object resembling a mine. Both services dispatched all available small craft into the bay in search of the object.

Finally, a Navy craft spotted the mysterious object—a large, circular, master television tube. A Navy spokesman said the tube apparently had been discarded in the water.

Miner Is Injured

Henry Neill, 56, of California, was admitted to Brownsville General Hospital yesterday with a back injury, suffered when hit by a beam in Vesta 4 mine.



U. S. ARMADA CARRIES 'BIG STICK' — The Combat-Ready U. S. Sixth fleet (left) moved out of Italian and French ports under emergency orders and headed for the eastern Mediterranean in a "big stick" show of strength aimed at preventing a war in Jordan. Commanded by Adm. Charles (Cat) Brown (right), the fleet is known to carry atomic weapons.

Man Discovered With 12 Wives; Has Lost Count

CHICAGO (UP)—An unofficial recount indicated today that Walter (Yoo Hoo) Yemm, an energetic businessman, had 12 wives.

"I thought there were only nine, but I just happened to remember three more," he told authorities.

Yemm, 47, seemed to recall that he divorced two of his wives.

"Another one, Corinne I think, called up one day and said she was getting a divorce," Yemm said. "Do you suppose that counts?"

Assistant State's Attorney Patrick Egan said Yemm's marital adventures poses a problem.

"We can't figure out which of all these women was his legal wife," Egan said. "And we've got to know that if we're going to prosecute him for bigamy."

Yemm was tripped up when he tried to take bride No. 8—or was it 9—and her brother-in-law, who is the buddy of a detective, asked police to check on the 47-year-old charmer.

Police uncovered a virtual harem, including Yemm's current wives, the former Beverly Simms, 31, a typist, and the former Wilma Pyzik, 48, a clerical worker, both of Chicago.

Friday, Yemm admitted he had six un-divorced wives, but protested he only lived with two at a time. Later, in the day, while naming the six, he rolled off seven names.

When police pointed out the discrepancy, Yemm conceded there probably were seven. Police booked him on charges of bigamy—which really is an understatement.

McClellan for Supervision Of Union Welfare Funds

NEW YORK (UP) — The chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee said Friday he favors legislation that would place management-controlled welfare funds under federal supervision.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) previously had expressed the view that union-managed welfare funds should be brought under federal regulation.

The Arkansas Democrat voiced his opinion on employer-controlled welfare funds at the conclusion of a closed four-hour session during which he, sitting as a committee of one, heard testimony from the president and six dissident members of Local 138 of the Operating Engineers Union.

Referring to the proposed federal regulation of employer-managed welfare funds, McClellan said, "I think that the record to date points that there must be supervision of them."

Such regulation of union-administered funds already has been favored by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Although he would not disclose what had taken place during the closed hearing, McClellan said some of the witnesses had been cooperative but that not all had been "friendly."

The key witness was William C. DeKoning Jr., president of the International Operating Engineers Local 138, a Long Island labor union. Before entering the hearing room, DeKoning told newsmen he had "nothing to hide" and would answer all questions.

At the end of the hearing, DeKoning's counsel, James G. Blake, said McClellan and committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy had checked into the union president's financial affairs "as far back as 1940." Blake said DeKoning had been asked to submit to the committee by Monday his personal financial records dating from Jan. 1, 1950. The attorney said DeKoning would comply.

Counsel Kennedy said the committee had decided tentatively to resume hearings in Washington on Monday. McClellan said the committee would investigate the activities of other New York area labor officials. Hearings probably will be held in Washington, he said.

Brainwashing Test Effective, Psychiatrist Says

LONDON (UP)—Australian-born psychiatrist Russell Willett said today he probably could have been "upset or broken" by interrogation Friday night in television's first brain-washing experiment.

Willett was almost incoherent when he was released after 25 hours in a soundproof room with his eyes bandaged, ears plugged and arms pinioned.

The British Broadcasting Corp. program, "A Question of Science," televised the early stages and the climax of the ordeal in an effort to throw light on Communist brainwashing techniques.

Willett lay on a thin mattress. He said he spent most of the 25 hours trying to measure time.

When led from the booth, he swayed slightly. He blinked and rubbed his eyes. He could not speak.

He went through a series of tests which showed his sense of balance was impaired, he could not identify common objects quickly and he was unable to give the correct answer to a simple problem in arithmetic.

A psychiatrist analyzing the results of the experiment pointed out that Willett was more subject to suggestibility. This indicated the reasons for "confessions" made by Communist prisoners, he said.

The Fitz Henry Water Co. asked for a $312 hike for 25 consumers in the Fitz Henry area, the PUC said.

State Ahead in Easing Shortage Of Engineers

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP)—Pennsylvania is ahead of the country as a whole in efforts to ease the shortage of engineers, Dr. Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, said Friday.

He said slightly more than 17,000 students, 10.7 per cent of all the state's college students, enrolled in engineering courses last year. The national average is 8.2 per cent, he said.

"If our present ratio of college going in Pennsylvania is maintained, and if almost 11 per cent of the college students in Pennsylvania continue to elect engineering, we shall have about 21,600 engineering students in 1965, an increase of about 26 per cent over our present enrollment," he said.

Walker spoke before the annual meeting of the Allegheny Section of the American Society of Engineering Education.

Masontown Miner Is Given Carnegie Medal

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission cited a Masontown, Pa., coal mine worker today for the daring rescue of a fellow worker trapped 550 feet below the surface by a mine cave-in.

The commission awarded a bronze medal to the rescuer, John W. Blasek Jr., of 307 Neff Ave. He was among 13 persons voted awards at the spring meeting of the commission.

Also cited was Carol Ann Guthrie, 22, Wheeling, W. Va., nurse who rescued a woman from drowning. She will receive a bronze medal.

Blasek's act of heroism occurred Jan. 31, 1956 after a large section of the roof in a mine at Carmichaels fell, pinning Percy A Hooper, a loading machine operator, between his machine and a coal pillar. Debris filled the tunnel except for an opening 18 inches wide and 20 inches high at floor level.

Blasek, a motorman, arrived at the scene and volunteered to crawl through the narrow portion of the tunnel remaining open to rescue Hooper.

Blasek edged his way 30 feet through the opening to reach the imprisoned miner. He freed Hooper's hips and one leg, but found the other leg pinned by a three-foot slab of coal. Calling for a hand-ax, Blasek broke up the slab to free Hooper and then dragged him to safety after 30 minutes in the tunnel.

Miss Guthrie was honored for the rescue of Mrs. Florence Fisher, who had leaped from a bridge into Wheeling Creek shortly after midnight on Jan. 25, 1957.

In addition to bronze medals awarded each of the persons cited, the commission granted a death pension totaling $960 a year in one case and a death benefit of $1,000 in another.

Awards totaling $3,250 were granted in nine cases for educational and other worthy purposes.

The awards are made from a fund set up by the late Pittsburgh steel magnate, Andrew Carnegie, with a $5 million grant in 1904.

Soviet Note Is Reportedly Sent To Eisenhower

By UNITED PRESS

An Egyptian newspaper said today the Soviet Union has sent a note to President Eisenhower warning the United States to "keep its hands off Jordan."

There was no immediate confirmation of the report in other capitals but it immediately recalled the exchange of notes between Britain and France and Russia prior to the Anglo-French Suez invasion.

The report, published in the Egyptian government newspaper Al Gomhouria, was contained in a dispatch from its New York correspondent who said he learned of the note "from private channels."

The story said the note warned Eisenhower that "any interference in Jordan's internal affairs will have grave consequences on not only the Middle East but also on world peace."

Next Blowup

In Jerusalem, informed Israeli sources said Egypt will start the next Middle East blowup with a demand that the United Nations emergency force leave strategic Sharm El Sheikh.

They said Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser would use this in an attempt to re-unite his Arab allies who have fallen out over how to deal with the victory of pro-Western King Hussein of Jordan.

The Israeli sources said that if the move were successful it would lead to renewed attack by Egyptian shore batteries on Israeli shipping passing through the Straits of Tiran at the mouth of the gulf.

A dispatch from United Press correspondent Joe Morris in Amman said Jordan was quiet today but that Moscow and Cairo radios had launched propaganda attacks directly at King Hussein.

He said Moscow Radio accused the King of collaborating with "American imperialism" against the will of the people.

Military Control Easing

A Jordanian army spokesman said some authority was being handed over to local officials. Informed sources predicted a gradual relaxation of the tight military control.

Dispatches from Israel, Iraq and Washington supported reports from Jordan itself that King Hussein had gained firm control of his country again and had the pro-Communist elements on the run.

Telephone communications with the Jordan capital of Amman were suspended indefinitely but cables, presumably censored, were getting out of the country.

Direct dispatches from Amman said as many as 600 persons, mainly from leftist parties sympathetic to former Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, had been picked up for questioning.

Cairo Radio said today 164 of them had been detained, including Nabulsi himself. The Arab Middle East news agency said Jordan is an armed camp.

United Press correspondent Eliav Simon reported from Jerusalem that a Western diplomatic source said dissension among Jor-

WE ALL HAVE OUR DREAMS

Yes, we all have our dreams.

Perhaps sometimes, they are mere projections of our selfishness . . . hopes unfair to others . . . ambitions dangerous to ourselves.

But often, they are healthy, honest aspirations . . . opportunities which zeal deserves . . . victories which justice demands.

Is it wrong to dream such dreams? Does God frown on honest hope and love?

Of course not! Rather, God has given us minds able to dream, and souls courageous enough to seek the difficult—even the impossible.

But the Divine Architect helps man to model his castles in the air, and provides the tools for their building. With faith and the guidance of the Church a man may realize hopes and aims which a cynical world calls futile.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

To Break Ground Tuesday

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the Monongahela Valley Catholic High School in Carroll Twp. will take place at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Kushner, pastor of St. Dominic's Church of Donora and moderator of the school, will bless and break the ground.

The sermon will be delivered by the Very Rev. Msgr. Jacob Shinar, secretary to Bishop John F. Dearden, of the Pittsburgh diocese.

The site of the ground-breaking is just off Coyle-Curtin Rd., about one-quarter mile south of the junction of routes 837 and 88.

The 20 acre plot of church-owned property on which the school will be built is situated in the center of a triangle made up of the towns of Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela and is accessible to all of the parishes which the school will service.

$900,000 Subscribed

$900,000 has already been subscribed to the campaign for funds to help defray the costs of erecting and furnishing the school. With final report meetings for the committees of the 14 participating parishes to be held on April 30 and May 1, it is certain that the grand total will be substantially increased.

The $700,000 minimum goal of the drive was exceeded after only 10 days of general, valley-wide solicitation.

To cost in excess of $1,000,000 and designed by Celli-Flynn, architects and engineers of McKeesport, the school will have accommodations for every Catholic child in the valley wishing to attend. The school will be co-instructional and will be staffed by teaching sisters from five separate religious communities, as well as by lay teachers.

An extensive athletic program for the boys and girls will be included in the curriculum.

LOCAL SPEAKER — Sr. Capt. Lambert Bittinger (above) and his wife will be special speakers at the Monessen Salvation Army Citadel tomorrow. Sunday School is at 10 a. m.; holiness meeting, 11 a. m.; young people's meeting at 7 p. m. and Salvation meeting at 7:45 p. m. Captain Bittinger is divisional auditor.

Erie 'Moveout' Big Success, Officials Say

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Operation Moveout, designed to test emergency welfare facilities in Erie County, was described today as "highly successful.'

Approximately 300 Erie residents "fled" their homes Friday in the mass evacuation test and were transported by automobile to emergency welfare centers in Albion, Union City and Girard. They returned to their homes this morning.

Harry Rinder, executive director of the Erie Red Cross and Civil Defense welfare chief, said the number of persons fleeing make - believe bombs was much less than hoped for, but sufficient for the test.

"We found out what we wanted to know," he said. "There was enough of a turnout to simulate a much greater crowd that would result from a real disaster. As a result the county reception centers will be better prepared to handle a real emergency in the future."

John Wilson, Erie Red Cross disaster director, described the test as a "complete success."

About 150 Civil Defense and Red Cross volunteer workers took part in the operation, designed to test their ability to care for "refugees" from the prime Erie target area in the event of an emergency.

Leader's Plan For Scholarships Is Criticized

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the state House Appropriations Committee today criticized Gov. George M. Leader's plan for providing 5,000 competitive college scholarships annually in Pennsylvania as "priming the pump at the wrong end."

"The governor's plan would only increase the enrollment in our colleges and universities without providing a cent more for additional facilities or buildings to meet the need," said Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) in a statement issued here today.

"What is needed is some way of financing the gap between what students pay and the cost of their education."

Wood said that fees at Pennsylvania State University and at the 14 state teachers' colleges are so low that every student "is getting what amounts to a gift from the state as part of the cost of their education."

"If he weren't so interested in promoting new give-away programs, he would come up with realistic suggestions that would help our colleges and universities provide the facilities for the great increase in students which all the experts are predicting is on its way," Wood said.

More Spending Being Forecast

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—A federal reserve official predicts that Americans will have one third more spending money by 1965.

J. L. Robertson of Washington, member of the Federal Reserve System board of governors, estimates that the gross total production eight years from now will be 550 billion dollars, as compared to 412 billion dollars this year.

"Under these conditions," he said, "disposable personal income in 1965 might be up as much as one-third—over 100 billion dollars more for the American people to spend annually."

"This is not only possible, but probable," Robertson told the 23rd annual convention of the Independent Bankers Assn. Friday.

Parts of Texas Hit Hard with Floods; Tornadoes Are Active

By UNITED PRESS

The violent clash of tropical air with a mass of Canadian chilliness continued to harass parts of the nation with tornadoes and storms today.

Residents of Texas were assured of more rain again today, in the wake of vigorous storms that have killed on the average of one person a day for the past nine days.

Thousands were routed from their homes in Dallas and Fort Worth Friday when flood waters gurgled through the streets. The weather bureau at Austin reported a "serious flood situation" along the Little River near Belton.

Three persons were killed in Friday's floods, raising the death toll to 10, according to a United Press count.

At least six persons were injured when a twister churned through Tyler, raising the number of tornado-caused casualties to 45 since the surly weather hit the state nine days ago.

Other tornadoes swung through the areas near Longview, Gilmer, Kilgore and Granbury. The Gilmer twister ravaged a school, a garage, several homes and destroyed a church.

Some 300 buildings were battered and 25 houses were destroyed at Tyler.

The severe weather belt stretched from the southeastern part of Texas northward across the middle Mississippi Valley and into the Great Lakes states early today. Funnel clouds were also spotted near Van Wert, Ohio, and Jackson, Mich.

More thunderstorms were forecast again today for the area from eastern Texas and Oklahoma northeastward across the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, the lower Great Lakes and the Middle Atlantic region.

Jordan

dan's Arab neighbors apparently has dispelled all fears they would move in and carve up the tiny kingdom for themselves.

The whole Arab world, as well as the West, watched with mounting interest a three-nation Arab conference in Saudi Arabia.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia, President Shukri el Kuatli of Syria, and Wing Commander Ali Sabry, top political adviser to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, were discussing the Jordanian situation.

The atmosphere has changed so radically in Jordan in the last week that Dr. Mustafa Khalifa, a prominent right wing party leader, declared publicly in Amman Friday that he fully supports the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Egypt Welcomes U.S. Plan

There were these other developments on the Middle East:

—Egyptian circles welcomed the U.S. proposal in the United Nations to give the Egyptian Suez Canal plan a try but they condemned what they called a "show of strength" by the U.S. 6th Fleet over the Jordan crisis.

—Western diplomats at the United Nations said Friday's tacit agreement by the Security Council to try out the Egyptian plan for operating the canal was a clear-cut victory for Nasser.

—The U.S. 6th Fleet was expected to be at its destination somewhere in the eastern Mediterranean by Sunday. The exact spot was a secret. A French government spokesman in Paris said France was not consulted on the maneuver and had not expected to be.

Pittsburgh Man Burned Fatally

PITTSBURGH (UP) — James McMahon, 59, Pittsburgh pipefitter, was burned fatally Friday in a gas explosion at the Homestead Works of United States Steel Corporation.

A co-worker, Joseph Lichbar, 43, Homestead, was injured and taken to Homestead Hospital. Plant officials said the exploding gas issued from a line leading to new soaking pits being constructed in a 54-inch mill.

McMahon and Lichbar were employes of the Amster-Morton Company, sub-contractors on the project.

Water Plant for Sewickley Twp.

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—The Board of Supervisors of Sewickley Twp. purchased a reservoir and water purification plant Friday from Margaret C. Howell for $25,-500.

The facility is the sole source of water supply for 476 customers in Herminie and its surrounding area. The transaction ended a series of law suits between Miss Howell and the township.

In addition to the purchase price, the supervisors paid Miss Howell $6,500 for outstanding claims and agreed to give satisfaction for any remaining claims.

Enter Innocence Pleas in Extortion

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two men pleaded innocent before Judge Joseph P. Willson at their arraignment Friday on charges of extorting money from two trucking firms.

The defendants, John J. Sweeney, 33, and George Nicholas, 39, both members of Local 249, Teamsters Union, were indicted by a federal grand jury for alleged violation of the Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Act.

Dulles Meets Olympic Champ And His Bride

WASHINGTON (UP)—The spirit of romance suffused the corridors of the State Department.

All thoughts turned to U.S. hammer throw champ Harold Connolly and his Czech discus-throwing bride, Olga.

The newlyweds called on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday to thank him for his support in their fight to wed.

Harold and Olga, who met at the Olympic Games in Australia, had to fight Czech red tape for months before they could wed. Dulles told a news conference during this period that the United States was in favor of love.

Olga told reporters at the State Department that she had reached few conclusions about the United States in the few days since she arrived.

"Some things I like very much, some things I don't like," she said. "Some things I understand, some things I don't understand. I hope the people will like me and I will like them."

Dulles congratulated the two Olympic athletes on their marriage and said he hoped his support had been helpful. He also commended Connolly on the good will tour he made in Europe for the State Department.

"And you got a dividend out of it with this lovely young lady," Dulles said. "I wish we could all do as well."

Girl Walks 50 Miles After Tiff

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (UP) — A 14-year-old girl who walked more than 50 miles from her Pennsylvania home after a tiff with her mother took the easy way back today.

Salamanca police sent Roseann Flick back by automobile to her home in Tiona, Warren County, Pa., to save her energy and the thinning leather on the soles of her shoes.

Roseann was found Friday night on a downtown street corner here. She told police she left home Thursday after an argument with her mother.

She walked all the way, she said, stopping only at a farmhouse near Onoville, N.Y., where a woman gave her breakfast.

Grief Turns to Hope; Daughter Is not Dead

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (UP)—Grief turned to hope today for parents who falsely identified a traffic death victim as their 17-year-old daughter who is still alive.

Judith Snyder and a companion, Mrs. Norma Jean Barnhart, 18, were riding in a car which struck a tree near here early Thursday morning. One of the girls was killed and the other critically injured.

Both girls were about the same size, similar in appearance and their faces were badly disfigured in the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Snyder identified the dead girl as their daughter and went ahead with funeral arrangements.

The mistake was discovered when friends of Judith went to the Stinson Funeral Home to pay their respects.

One of the friends noticed a locket around the dead girl's neck and a ring on her finger.

"Those aren't Judith's," the friend announced.

Eugene Barnhart, an airman at Selfridge Air Force Base who had been keeping a vigil at the bedside of the injured girl he thought was his wife, was summoned and identified the locket and ring as Mrs. Barnhart's.

Governor Leader's Education Plan

GOVERNOR Leader has raised an important and fascinating subject with his proposal that the state government undertake a huge program to increase educational opportunities at the college level in Pennsylvania.

The Governor's plan comes in three parts:

1. The award of 5,000 college scholarships each year, ranging in value from $200 to $800, on the basis of competitive examinations which would be compulsory in public high schools and optional in private and parochial secondary schools.

2. A student loan fund available to graduate as well as undergraduate students. Mr. Leader suggests an appropriation of $1,500,000 the first year for this purpose.

3. The establishment of two-year junior colleges in local communities to be attended by students living at home. This would relieve the enrollment pressure on already crowded colleges and universities.

To finance all of this, Governor Leader is proposing a tax of one cent on 12 ounces of bottled soft drinks and one-half cent per ounce on syrup. He claims this will yield $35,000,000 each biennium, which will meet in full the cost of the program.

* * *

UNDOUBTEDLY these are engaging ideas which deserve thoughtful consideration, including, in our opinion, some more consideration by Governor Leader himself.

For one thing we are not so sure that the Governor's basic premise is valid. He says in his special message to the Assembly:

"I am sure that almost all of us know of many parents who want desperately to send their children to college — but simply can't accumulate the money to give them this important opportunity."

Off hand we simply can't think of an instance when an able student who wanted "desperately" to go to college couldn't do so for financial reasons. Yet we can think of a large number who have found ways of acquiring higher education on the most meagre family resources.

It would seem to us that some more work needs to be done to discover whether college training is really so inaccessible as Mr. Leader makes it appear.

* * *

WE QUICKLY encounter this question, too: Is it desirable for the state to make this deep further penetration into the field of higher education?

There are some respected educators who feel that we may have gone too far already in supporting colleges and universities with tax funds. At that level of education the question of academic independence of government becomes far more serious than at the elementary and secondary levels. And the issue is definitely raised in the Leader proposals.

* * *

THE IDEA of developing junior colleges in local communities appeals to us most strongly in the program. President Eisenhower, it may be recalled, advanced this idea previously as a possible answer to the serious overcrowding of our colleges and universities.

It seems, in fact, that the junior colleges might be given priority if the legislature decides to embark on a program of this sort.

But even before that is done, the general proposition requires much more study and public discussion.

Jointure Succeeds

IN A TALK before the Monessen Rotary Club this week Robert VanBremen, supervising principal of the Bellmarette joint school district, spoke in the most favorable terms of the Bellmarette experience of six years with the jointure idea.

The first test of any educational innovation has to be what it does for the pupils. And according to Mr. VanBremen, the joint district has been able to provide a far richer program than any of the four smaller districts which make up the jointure could hope to provide on its own.

The taxpayer, too, apparently has fared well. The Bellmarette district is free of debt, and the economies of joint operation are bound to be materially helpful in keeping school taxes under control.

The Bellmarette experience seems to be fairly typical where jointures have been carefully planned and rest on sound educational and community foundations. Jointure often proves to be the answer to the demand for better educational opportunities in the face of rising costs. Many thousands of Pennsylvania children today are attending modern schools who, had it not been for the jointure principle, would surely be receiving poorer schooling.

There must be a limit, of course, to the size of a school district if it is to remain manageable. And no sensible educator denies that there is such a thing as too large a school.

But if these limits are observed, school boards are warranted in seeking every opportunity to cooperate with their neighbors for the benefit of all the children of the area. Certainly such considerations as local pride must give way when there is a chance to give boys and girls improved opportunities.

Dulles and Stassen on Good Terms

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A significant development has taken place in U. S. disarmament negotiations, and in the life of disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen.

John Foster Dulles has begun to like "The Childe Harold." This is important. It wasn't the case before. Stassen, once referred to as "the wonder boy" when he became a young prodigy Governor of Minnesota, was formerly deep in the Dulles doghouse. When Harold held a background press conference last December to paint a rosy view of Russian disarmament proposals, Dulles, then in Paris, held a backgrounder next day to tell the press how wrong Harold was.

Mr. Pearson

Stassen was then working directly under White House orders. Because Dulles didn't like either him or this arrangement, Stassen was transferred to the State Department, where he would have to take orders direct from the Secretary of State.

Stassen has been a good sport about this, continued to work hard for disarmament, and, believe it or not, Dulles has come to like him. He has been impressed by Stassen's negotiating ability, now shares his view that there is definitely a chance to make some way with the Russians on disarmament.

Stassen has detected an apparent desire on the part of the Russians to wrap up some kind of disarmament agreement. This coincides with a rather favorable report from retiring Ambassador Charles Bohlen that the Kremlin is concentrating on domestic problems — doesn't want war.

Result is that Stassen has gone back to Europe with the green light from both the President and the Secretary of State to go all-out for a disarmament agreement.

Wig-making Ex-senator

Idaho's new green ex-Sen. Glenn Taylor, who lost by a hair in the Democratic primary to young Frank Church, is about to enter the wig-making business.

The ex-Senator, who ran for vice president with Henry Wallace in 1948 will call his hairpiece the "Taylor Topper." It will be nationally advertised.

Taylor is an ex-cowboy who strummed and sang his way into the Senate in 1944, made a good record in the Senate, but got carried away by Henry Wallace's progressive friends in 1948. Now retired to private life, Taylor has already made a few toupees for friends and wears one himself. The secret is dental plastic, the stuff dentists use to take "impressions" for casting gold inlays.

Taylor uses the same plastic to take impressions of his clients' bald pates. Then he attaches hair to the plastic, assuring the wearer a perfect fit.

Glenn came to his new profession as the [illegible] of 25 years in show business. In the course of which he lost his hair, Taylor says he got tired of the gibes of his friends about his crowless dome and began to sport a toupee. He also began experimenting with wig-sewing techniques, eventually hitting upon the dental-plastic idea.

From Washington—

Ike and the GOP Platform

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Arizona, who frankly told his "press conference" questioners this week that he rode into office on Mr. Eisenhower's coat tails in 1952, wants to do two things: he wants to defeat major parts of the President's legislative and budgetary requests to Congress this year and he wants to retain the President's support when he runs for re-election to the Senate next year.

Mr. Drummond

That's nice doing if you can do it and it is quite possible that Senator Goldwater and numerous of his Republican colleagues will succeed. At this stage the Senator is in strong company since the top leadership of the Republican party in both the Senate and House is now seeking to persuade Congress to reject the central counsel of Mr. Eisenhower.

The President's central counsel to the Congress and to the country is this — that a "substantial reduction" in federal spending would "weaken the nation's defenses, cut back or eliminate programs now required by law or proposed in the public interest" and could be "accomplished only at the expense of national safety and interest."

Leaders Disagree

The opposite counsel is being given to the Congress and to the country by the Republican leader of the House, Rep. Joseph Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, by the senior Republican leaders of the Senate, William Knowland of California and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and others. They advise that a "substantial reduction" in the budget be made and they propose exactly the kind of multi-billion dollar cut which the President holds can only be accomplished "at the expense of national safety."

Now Senator Goldwater, speaking for himself and his supporters, contends that it is President Eisenhower who is out of step with the Republican party, not the Republican leaders who are out of step. He states his view lightly on some occasions and gravely accusatorially on others. He suggests that the term "Modern Republicanism" will be obsolete in six months — three years before its principal spokesman, Mr. Eisenhower, will be out of office. In the other vein the Senator asserts that the President's 1957 legislative requests constitute a breach of confidence, a betrayal of public trust.

This is a grave charge which ought to be examined to make sure whether Senator Goldwater is making it against the right person.

It doesn't use fancy words to define "Modern Republicanism." "Modern Republicanism" is the 1956 Republican platform and it will be "obsolete in six months" only if the Republican members of Congress make it obsolete by repudiating important parts of it.

Goldwater Off Base

I have just re-read the complete text of that platform and I think any objective person would conclude that it is Senator Goldwater, not President Eisenhower who is violating his party's commitments to the voters. The 1956 platform:

— Pledges federal aid for public school building.

— Favors extending the coverage of the minimum wage.

— Supports expanding the Social Security.

— Advocates federal health reinsurance.

— Commends "economic aid programs" as "effective countermeasures" to Soviet economic offensives.

— Proposes to "overhaul and improve the Taft-Hartley Act."

The President is achieving his platform goal of reduction of the national debt, of continued balancing of the budget (three consecutive balanced budgets now in prospect) and of tax reduction possibly next year.

Spending Not Cut

Mr. Eisenhower has not been able to reduce federal spending for the next fiscal year primarily because of the needs of the cold war and because he chose to honor the commitments of the Republican platform as against what he deemed a dangerous budget cut "in these times."

"I think," Senator Goldwater remarked this week, "that the President is bound by any platform that he runs on just as the Republican party is bound."

At this stage no one can see how "the battle of the budget" is coming out, but it seems to me that President Eisenhower is coming far nearer to honoring the Republican platform than his Republican opponents.

Fakery for Benefit of Tourist Changes Europe

By HARRY R. PORE, Jr.

All the travel authorities agree that this summer will find more Americans than ever touring Europe. Steamships and airlines are booked solid for eastward passages beginning early in June and for homeward passages in late August.

But while Europe will be seeing more Americans than ever, it is not quite so certain that the Americans will be seeing the genuine Europe. For much of Europe has been either deliberately or subconsciously changing from its real personality into what it thinks the American tourist will most readily part with his dollars in order to see.

The Municipal Council of Paris as good as admitted this several months ago when it embarked on a program to eradicate tourism fakery. It found that this fakery is of two varieties:

1. Deliberately concocted "sights" such as restaurants with candle-lit "caves" which the tourist is told date from the Middle Ages.

2. "Playing up to tourists" in order to give them, not what Paris really is, but what they imagine Paris is.

Taxi Drivers Cited

Of the two kinds of fakery, the Paris Council found the second the more reprehensible. The taxi driver who dons a beret in the "season" when he wouldn't be caught dead in one otherwise and who spouts a flow of gibberish when he can speak perfectly intelligible English is an example of the kind of thing Paris wants to eliminate.

Artists with beards, "medieval" inns which were opened in 1935 and suffocating "intimate" restaurants are some more of the frauds that will have to go.

"Paris and its citizens," said the Council, "are in real danger of becoming caricatures of themselves. Too many of us are starting to act and even look the way Americans think we are supposed to. The city, especially around places very popular with visitors, such as Montmartre, is showing signs of changing into a kind of travel brochure version of itself."

What is true of Paris is also true to some extent, I'm sure, of the other cities and regions included in the Grand Tour. The fakery may not be quite as calculated elsewhere as in Montmartre, but it is there nevertheless.

Some of the standard European "sights", of course, are quite openly maintained as they are for the purpose of attracting tourists. The Dutch long ago quit wearing wooden shoes and pantaloons, but if you want to see how the Dutch looked when they wore wooden shoes and pantaloons, you can visit the island of Marken where some of the ancient customs and dress of Holland are preserved for your benefit.

Tourist not Fooled

But this is a different thing from the Paris fakery. The visitor to Marken is under no illusion as to the currency of what he is seeing.

I agree that the exchange of tourists is a very good way of promoting international friendship and understanding, especially if the tourists behave as they should. And I hope the day comes when Europeans are touring America in the same numbers as the Americans who visit Europe.

But much of the advantage in exchanges of this sort can be lost if the tourists see, not the genuine article, but some contrived play-acting against a backdrop of phony scenery. And those Americans who go to Europe this summer ought to do so with their guards up. In Paris especially.

Hard Day's Fishing Has Successful End

By JOHN H. DAY

A tiny winter wren, pert and curious, darted across the hemlock-shaded stream and bobbed nervously along the exposed root of a yellow birch. These little stub-tailed fellows are always interesting, and I forgot the business at hand to watch him scramble under and over the creekside debris, looking more like a brown mouse than a bird. Just then a husky brook trout made a savage lunge at the minnow I was spinning through a deep pocket. I struck too late, just managing to raise the fish to the surface and lose him in an indignant flurry. In the excitement the wren went elsewhere, and I had neither bird nor trout for my carelessness.

Half the fun in fishing is getting the bait. The little striped dace is prime trout lunch meat in the high country, and seining a couple of dozen of these jet-propelled minnows is a fascinating business. I worked a small feeder to the trout stream which runs below my camp on the mountain side, scooping with long handled net the few pools in this short stretch.

This is slow work when you're doing a solo job, but my luck ran good and by picking up one here and another there I soon had enough for a day's fishing. Among the catch were a small salamander, three baby brook trout and two sizeable chubs. Finally I raised the net from under a grassy overhang to find a ten-inch rainbow trout enmeshed. It's risky business getting game fish with a seine and I halted all operations right there.

Standing Room Only

There was the usual standing-room-only crowd of anglers along the stream when the new season opened. The thermometer stood at 28 and there was skim ice on the quiet edgings. A blue jay sat in a hemlock and jeered at me as I waded in with the rest of the fish-hungry crowd. My patience wears thin easily in a crowded stream. After walking around one angler, then another and another and yet another I gave up after a couple miles of tramping and went back to camp with but one rainbow trout to show for the three hours invested.

My hands were stiff with the cold anyhow and I was glad for the warmth of the wood chunk fire and some hot breakfast. By ten o'clock many of the anglers had called it a day, some with a few trout and some with none, but all with a creelfull of tales of tremendous angling prowess, enough to keep them talking until the bass season opens.

By now the sun had driven off that numbing morning chill. I loaded the bait bucket with some choice minnows and took off for the headwaters of a stream about ten miles distant. There was a chance that this remote area might not have been too much disturbed and here I hoped to score my day's catch. Back into the mountain I went, following a roadway that got steadily worse and finally became two wheel tracks in the shale.

When I could drive no farther I parked and hiked in another two miles. There were still a few boot tracks along the banks, but no signs of a parade, as on the lower reaches. Here I set up for minnow fishing and opened fire. In the fall of the first pool a good brookie took solidly and stayed to go into my pocket. The next pool produced another and I soon had the third trout from a deep glide in a flat stretch.

Big Chub Discarded

Just ahead lay a promising pool. I moved carefully into position and cast to the tail. In the sunlight I saw the gleam of a turning fish but he was striking short. Again and again I cast and again and again I could see the fish come up to worry the minnow and dog it around just short of a firm strike. Finally I teased him into taking a good grab and brought in a tremendous chub! Chubs don't belong in trout streams and in disgust I hurled this horny-headed fellow far back among the trees.

In the next pool that chub got his revenge. I pulled too hard on a good strike and the terminal tackle wound itself around an alder bush right over the deepest part of the pocket. There was no recourse but to wade in and untangle the leader. This accomplished I started for shore when one boot struck a long, slippery rock and started a slide which let me down into that icy water over both boot tops and clear to one shoulder.

This kind of dunking is all in the day's work to the confirmed trouter. I shivered a lot and moved into a trough where the stream is practically a narrow tunnel under a roof of alder tangle and green briar. This is always my favorite fishing, and here, for a quarter mile, I had more fun than any one man deserves. Apparently no one had ventured into this mare's nest. When I finally staggered out the other end I was scratched and torn and had given three leaders to the green briar, but I had a limit catch of tasty brookies and the world was my oyster.

A man named John Davey founded tree surgery as a science in 1880.

The mothers of Miss Traversari and Mr. Cipriani were among the 35 guests present from Monessen, Belle Vernon, Elizabeth and Pittsburgh.

May Stage Testimonial for Towney

Reportedly there's a movement underway in West Newton to promote a testimonial banquet for Stewart Townsend, the school's retiring principal and basketball coach. It was "Towney" who organized Monessen High's first cage team way back in 1915 . . . Soccer may be regarded as a minor sport in some places, but not at Monongahela. In five years, no less than five of the Wildcat booters have won college scholarships. Two members of this year's team — Paul Jurovcik and Ron Chislaghi — are presently considering bids from Pitt and Slippery Rock . . . For the first time since 1952, Penn State will play a ten game football schedule next season.

* * *

Harry Muckle, the new Fayette City baseball manager, will accent "youth" this season. However Harry, who coaches football and basketball at Marion Junior High, plans to keep the FC veterans around, too, to teach the youngsters a trick or two. Assisting Muckle will be Jack Russell and Walt Plevniak . . . That new Fayette County Interscholastic Baseball League is catching on. The circuit is made up of schools who quit the WPIAL diamond program this season to form an outfit of their own . . . The annual banquet of the Mon Valley Rifle League will be held next Monday in Bentleyville.

* * *

Only Three Seniors on MHS Nine

Only three members of the current Monessen High baseball cast are seniors: Carl Crawley, Jimmy Sepesky and Sam Thorpe. That means Coach John Hayduk is building for the future . . . They've organized an unusual "bucket brigade" in Charleroi to clear off the community's baseball diamond at Recreation Park today. A crew of players will police the field with buckets, picking up stones . . . Bentleyville High may add baseball and track to the varsity sports program in the near future. The Bears are competing in both sports on an informal basis this year . . . They're off-and-running at Waterford Park in Chester, W. Va., today at 2 p. m.

* * *

The Pittsburgh Racing Association will use a new point system this season. Fewer points will be awarded for first place finishes and comparatively more for the runner-up spots. The idea is to create more interest among the racers by tightening the point standings . . . Incidentally the size of motors in the PRA circuit has also been increased from 300 cubic inches to a maximum of 360 cubic inches. Only ordinary gasoline will be legal . . . Mel Lampkins, of Farrell, and Pete Culp, of Sharon, have been offered basketball scholarships at the University of Denver. And they seem interested.

Monongahela Without Diamond

Once upon a time Monongahela was the baseball stronghold of the valley. The mayor proclaimed a holiday for the sandlot opener and a big parade through town was part of the opening day excitement. Now the community finds itself without a diamond. A couple of years back Yankee Field was consumed for an industrial expansion. Now Quinn Park, in nearby New Eagle, will give way to a new coal tipple. Unhappily, there doesn't appear to be another suitable baseball site in the area . . . The Monessen Midget Football League drive for funds is still moving along in high gear. The goal is $2,000. If fans continue to be generous, it should be reached before long.

Globetrotters Leave Today to Tour Europe

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures.

The Harlem Globetrotters leave by air today on their eighth European tour, during which they will play 119 games in 4 countries, and the only site they don't enjoy is the Palais des Sports in Paris.

"The Germans used it as a concentration center during the war and held as many as 30,000 people there waiting to be sent to Germany," says Abe Saperstein. "When you get down in those dark, gloomy dressing rooms, there's a ghost around every corner."

The whisper around the National League is that Andre Rodgers currently hitting .259, is having his troubles against curve ball pitching. This figures after the greatest Giant buildup since the days of Clint Hartung, the Hondo Hurricane who became a mere zephyr.

Needs More Seasoning

The general sentiment is that Rodgers, only in his fourth year of organized baseball, should have had another season of minor league seasoning. The spring raves really put him on the spot and the one-time wicketeer from the Bahamas probably would be the first one to admit it just "wasn't cricket."

An amateur hasn't won the U S Open golf championship since Johnny Goodman turned the trick in 1933 and veteran Lloyd Mangrum doesn't give the simon-pures much of a chance when it is staged at Toledo's Inverness golf course June 13-15.

"Harvie Ward is the only amateur who has the shots to win a tournament against the current crop of pros," bluntly says the outspoken Mangrum.

Quite A Stir

This held true when the Open was held at Inverness in 1920, too. That time an 18-year-old amateur playing in his first Open created quite a stir by being among the contenders at the end of three rounds. Then he blew it with a closing 77.

Oh, yes, the youngster's name was Bobby Jones.

If Lew Burdette of the Braves is throwing a spitball, as charged by Birdie Tebbetts of the Redlegs, it wouldn't come as much of a surprise to the Yankees' Casey Stengel.

"I've seen at least two guys I thought were throwing spitters already this season," Stengel asserts. "Understand, I can't prove it. But somebody'd have to prove to me that they weren't." Great Expectorations!

Louis Passes Heart Exam

CHICAGO (UP) — Things were looking up a bit for former heavyweight champ Joe Louis today. His pocketbook might be a bit weak but his heart is stronger than first thought.

Louis was told Friday his heart condition had improved enough so that he might be able to resume his job as a referee of wrestling matches. The income tax-troubled Louis is in a position to welcome any source of added revenue.

Tigers Force Out Briggs

DETROIT (UP) — The Briggs name, a part of Detroit Tiger baseball for early four decades, was removed from the Tiger scene Friday when Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr. resigned as executive vice president, general manager and director.

Only the stadium retains the designation of "Briggs."

"And I wonder how long it'll be before they change that," Briggs said.

Briggs was embittered over his forced resignation which was brought on by published reports of his differences with the Tigers' owners.

Harvey R. Hansen, Detroit lumberman and president of the team, and John E. Fetzer, chairman of the board, met with Briggs Friday after all three had denied Thursday Briggs' blast that the owners were trying to run the team "like a factory."

Named Prexy

Spike was named president when his father Walter O. Briggs died five years ago. He wanted to hold onto the club but in order to settle the estate the team was ordered sold. He tried to buy it himself and failed.

A syndicate headed by Fred Knorr, a long-time friend of Briggs, and Fetzer bought the franchise for $5,500,000. Briggs was retained as a director, general manager and executive vice president. He never really had a chance to run the team on his own.

Knorr stepped down as the new owners' first president a week ago and Hansen was elected. It was said that Knorr's business interests forced the move. But some said it was done to pave the way for the removal of Briggs.

Johnny McHale, who is with the Tigers in Cleveland trying to arrange a trade with the Indians, was seen as the logical choice for the general managership. McHale is a former Tiger first baseman and Notre Dame graduate, and spent most of his playing time in the minor leagues. He is 36.

McHale recently was given permission to work trades on his own and it was then seen as a buildup to the general manager's post.

Ricketts Throws Shutout Against Miami Marlins

By UNITED PRESS

Major league outfitters may have a tough time tailoring a uniform to fit tall Dick Ricketts, but if the former professional basketball player keeps pitching as well as he has, it'll be worth the extra effort.

The six-foot, seven-inch, 235-pound, International League rookie right hander powered his fast ball past Miami, Friday night, enabling the Rochester Red Wings to walk off with an easy, 4-0 win.

For Ricketts, taking a giant step up from the Eastern League, the eight-hitter was his first league triumph. It also made his decision to devote full-time athletic efforts to baseball more significant.

Action between other teams:

Toronto, defending pennant winners, tripped the talent-laden Richmond Virginians twice: 1-0, 8-3. And in a free-swinging contest, Montreal outlasted Columbus, 10-6. A scheduled game between Buffalo and Havana was rained out.

Derby Golf Tourney Pauses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Without swinging a club, chubby Bill Casper is certain to retain his two-stroke lead in the $30,000 Kentucky Derby Open golf tournament—because this unique links show is taking the day off to see the races.

Casper carved an even par 71 Friday for a 54-hole total of 207. He was followed by Johnny Pott, Peter Thomson, and Jack Fleck at 209.

But today is opening day at Churchill Downs, and in this Derby-mad town that means it's out to the track for everyone. The tournament, which opens more than a week of pre-Derby festivities, will conclude with its fourth round Sunday.

Five shots back at 213 — even par—were Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., and Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa.

WPIAL Relays Set for Today

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (UP)—Mt. Lebanon High goes for its fourth straight Western Pennsylvania schoolboy track and field title today at the 19th annual running of the WPIAL Relays.

More than 750 athletes from 31 schools are entered in the meet with Altoona, Clairton and Connellsville expected to give the Blue Devils a hard race.

Mt. Lebanon scored a 22 point edge over its closest competitor, Altoona, last year to win the team title. But some of the veterans who helped pace the Blue Devils have graduated from the scholastic ranks.

Pirates Rap Dodgers Behind Purkey, 7-1

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, off to a successful start in their first long home stand, send Ron Kline against Brooklyn's Don Newcombe today in the second game of a three-game series.

Neither of the righthanders has won a game, Kline dropping two and Newcombe one.

A crowd of 26,918 fans turned out at Forbes Field in excellent weather Friday night to see Bob Purkey tame the Dodgers while his teammates shelled southpaw Johnny Podres from the mound in a 7-1 victory.

The game was righthander Purkey's first start and second victory of the season, both scored against Brooklyn. His first triumph over the Dodgers was in the first game of Easter Sunday's doubleheader at Ebbetts Field and that was the last game the Pirates won before Purkey turned the trick again. In that game, Purkey relieved and gave up one hit in seven innings.

Shuffles Lineup

Manager Bobby Bragan shuffled his lineup Friday night to get his best righthanded batting strength against Podres. He sent third baseman Frank Thomas to first in place of Dale Long, who was benched, and put Jim Pendleton on third. That gave him eight righthanded swingers.

Thomas paced the Pirates' 13-hit attack with a homer and a single, driving in three runs. His two-run homer in the sixth, his third of the season, chased Podres from the mound. Pendleton and Dick Groat each got three hits.

Bucs Score

The Pirates scored once in the first inning on singles by Roberto Clemente and Groat and a double-play sacrifice fly by Thomas. They added two in the fourth on Groat's double, singles by Thomas and Pendleton and Bill Virdon's sacrifice fly. After Thomas' two-run homer, the Pirates picked up two more runs in the seventh when Bill Mazeroski doubled, Purkey tripled and Clemente doubled.

That made it 7-0. In the next frame Duke Snider spoiled Purkey's shutout with his third homer of the season.

The Pirates end the series with the Dodgers with a single game Sunday.

Brooklyn	000 000 010—	1 9 2
Pittsburgh	100 202 20x—	7 13 0

Podres, Roebuck (6), Bessent (7) and Campanella, Purkey (2-0) and Foiles. Loser — Podres (1-1). HR—Thomas, Snider.

British Champ In Fine Debut

WASHINGTON (UP) — Hogan (Kid) Bassey's manager threatened today to return to England "unless we can sign up a featherweight title fight within two or three days."

Manager George Biddle made the statement following the dazzling American debut Friday night of the powerfully-built Bassey, British Empire champion from Nigeria, Africa. Bassey overwhelmed Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico by brute force in their nationally-televised 12-round bout to score a unanimous upset victory. Bassey entered the ring a 9-5 underdog.

The fight was billed as an elimination bout with the winner to meet Cherif Hamia of France for the vacant world title.

In Montreal, Hamia's manager, Philippe Filippi, indicated willingness to match his fighter with Bassey for the crown.

Minardis Capture Hearth Crown

The Minardis won the 1956-57 Open Hearth League Bowling title last night by sweeping over the Balmers.

The whitewash win assured the second half title for the Minardis, who already owned the first half crown.

The new champs will be honored at the annual league banquet on May 15.

Stainless Page League Champs

Stainless reigned today as Page Bowling League champion.

The Stainless boys won two of three games last night from Mechanical to win the second half title. Having won the first half crown, they automatically claimed the season championship.

Top bowlers were Frank Watson, 200-517, and Steve Ruby, 218-571.

Ozarks Look Good in Game At Jacobs Creek

The Monessen Ozarks tuned up for the approaching Mon Valley League season last night with a 5-0 win over Jacobs Creek in a three-inning exhibition game.

Pushing over five runs in the first inning, the Ozarks looked good both at bat and afield. However darkness closed in before more than three innings could be played.

Bill Mitnick, generally regarded as one of the valley's finest hurdlers worked two innings, fanning four. Veteran Fuzzy Anderson toiled a frame without trouble.

At bat, Mel Clickovich collected a pair of hits, including a double. Ned Hill and Sunny Trozzo also slammed two-baggers.

Significantly, Mike Young — the much-sought outfielder — played with the Ozarks although he isn't under contract as yet.

Manager Tony Mascetta reported that Mitnick, Clickovich, Anderson and Hill have all signed pacts.

So have Pappy Johnson, Bob Mastracci, Ron Danko, Bill Yohe, Ron Campbell, Rich Zuraw, Andy Kalie, Jim Smith, Bob Schaum.

That would seem to indicate that the Ozarks won't be hurting too much for player personnel.

Baseball Series

WICHITA, Kan. (UP) — Japan has received official certification to participate in next September's Global World Series of semi-pro baseball. Canada, Colombia, Europe, Hawaii, Mexico, Puerto Rico and the United States also will compete in the series.

No Changes in Valley Basketball Section

Monessen to Stay in Section Five; Rostraver Returns to Section Ten

Monessen High basketballers will stay in Section 5 next season.

That was the "official" word today from the WPIAL Basketball Committee.

The Section 5 lineup will remain the same as last season: Bellmar, Brownsville, California, Charleroi, Donora, Monessen, and Monongahela.

As a matter of fact, there will be hardly any changes in the 1957-58 alignment.

Once again Rostraver will compete in Section 10 along with Derry, Dunbar, Ligonier, Ramsay, Hurst, and Scottdale.

By releasing next season's sections, the WPIAL Basketball Committee ended speculation that some major reshuffling was in the offering.

Both Elizabeth and Glassport had threatened to quit the program unless moved out of Section 6. However the two schools are still in that league along with Clairton, Duquesne, Homestead, McKeesport and Munhall.

No Request

There was also talk that Monessen wanted moved into Section 6, but Greyhound officials have since admitted that a formal request was never submitted.

For most sections, the 1958 season will open on January 3 and conclude on Feb. 21. The opening games in Section 5 will send California to Bellmar, Monessen to Brownsville and Donora to Monongahela.

That's the way they opened last season, except that the home sites were reversed. The rest of the league schedule is also identical with the recent slate, except for the switch in home dates.

Here is how WPIAL Class A sections will line up for next season:

Section 1 — Arnold, Butler, Ford City, Har-Brack, Kittanning, New Kensington, Vandergrift.

Section 2 — Connellsville, Greensburg, Hempfield, Jeannette, Latrobe, N. Huntingdon, Penn Joint, Uniontown.

Section 3 — Aliquippa, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Ellwood City, Farrell, New Castle and Sharon.

Section 4 — Burgettstown, Canonsburg, Dormont, Mt. Lebanon, Trinity, Washington, W. Allegheny.

Section 5 — Bellmar, Brownsville, California, Charleroi, Donora, Monessen, Monongahela.

Section 6 —Clairton, Duquesne, Elizabeth, Glassport, Homestead, McKeesport, Munhall.

Section 7 — Braddock, Penn High, Rankin, Scott, Swissvale, Turtle Creek and Wilkinsburg.

Section 8 — Beaver, Freedom, Hopewell, Midland, Monaca, New Brighton, Rochester.

Section 9 — Coraopolis, McKees Rocks, Moon Twp., N. Allegheny, Quaker Valley, Shaler, Stowe, West View.

Section 10 — Derry, Dunbar, Ligonier, Ramsay, Hurst, Rostraver and Scottdale.

Section 11 — Carmichaels, German, Georges, N. Union, Pt. Marion, Redstone, S. Union, Waynesburg.

Section 12 — Freeport, Leechburg, Plum, Springdale, Tarentum and West Deer.

Section 13 — Baldwin, Bethel, Brentwood, Carnegie, Clark, Crafton.

All district Class B teams will be clustered into two sections.

Competing in Section 17 will be West Newton, South Huntingdon, Perryopolis, Sewickley, Irwin and East Huntingdon.

In Section 18 will be Bentleyville, Bethlehem, Centerville, Ellsworth, Jefferson, Mapletown, and W Bethlehem.

N. York-Pennsy League Begins Another Season

By JACK HORRIGAN

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—What has become an annual struggle for survival for the New York-Pennsylvania League, one of baseball's six remaining "cradle" circuits, begins today with eight teams in readiness for the tussle.

The problem facing the operators of the Class D league is: "How many teams will be able to survive the season?"

Last year two franchises—Hamilton, Ont., and Bradford, Pa.—were surrendered in mid-season and a third—Jamestown, N.Y.—folded at schedule's end.

New owners have re-established Bradford and Jamestown, and Elmira, N.Y., has replaced Hamilton this year. Corning, Batavia, Olean and Wellsville are the other New York cities while Erie completes the Pennsylvania end.

Rose-Colored Glasses

Even so confirmed an optimist as league President Vincent McNamara would have to look through tinted glasses to see a rosy future.

Attendance has dropped annually for several seasons now, and there's no reason to expect a sudden upsurge.

Loss of the league would mean more than merely no professional baseball in member cities. It would mean the abandonment of a fertile spawning grounds for future major leaguers.

No less than 27 players in the American and National Leagues as well as Detroit Manager Jack Tighe had their start in the league.

Graduates wear the uniforms of seven of the eight National League clubs and half of the American teams.

Tighe's Tigers, incidentally, have the largest alumni chapter with Al Aber, Jack Crimian, Frank Lary, Duke Maas, Frank Bolling, and Charley Maxwell all bearing diplomas.

Ozarks Nine Without Manager

The Monessen Ozarks have a pretty good list of players under contract for the upcoming Mon Valley League season, but NO manager.

Tony Mascetta, Ozark president and manager for the past several years, will leave tomorrow for a job in Scranton.

"We need both a field manager and business-manager right away," reported Mascetta.

Anyone interested should contact Ozark officials immediately.

Mascetta has appointed John Peckyno, executive vice-president to assist the regular vice-president Joe Gallo with club business. Doc Destefano will handle the organization's secretarial duties.

MHS Netters in Action Monday

Monessen High's tennis team will open its home season on Monday at the City Park Courts against Charleroi.

The MHS netters swept over Monongahela last Thursday to begin their Section 4 bid. Meanwhile Charleroi was whitewashed by California.

In another league match on Monday, California will play host to Monongahela.

Nine out of ten fur coats sold in the United States are made inside a five-block area in New York City, fur capital of the world.

Busy Day for City's Young Diamond Hopefuls

This is a busy day for the city's kid baseballers.

At 9 a. m., the PONY League started the first of three Saturday tryout sessions at Ninth Street Park.

Boys from 12 to 15 are eligible for PONY League ball. They must attend at least two of the three tryouts, though, to be considered for 1957 competition.

The Little League staged similar tryouts this afternoon at both City Park and Ninth Street Park for boys 10 to 12.

Like the PONY program, Little Leaguers must take part in at least two of the sessions.

Following the tryouts, both organizations will hold draft meetings to select players for the respective teams.

All boys who competed last season are not required to try out again. They remain the property of their old clubs.

Section 17 Nines Resume Monday

Schoolboy baseballers will get back into action on Monday.

The Section 17 card will show Monessen at Bellmar (Fayette City), California at Charleroi and Donora at Monongahela.

With the campaign now three weeks old, defending champion Charleroi holds a game and a half lead at the moment and appears a pretty solid bet to repeat as valley kings.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Putting 'To' Green

The putter from off the green can be a very effective weapon because it is safe. Where the choice is one between chipping or putting from the apron of the green, the putt will frequently be the wiser.

On the delicate type of chip, it's too easy to hit far behind the ball and to "dump" it just a few feet out in front of you. With the putter, this danger can be eliminated.

The requisites for putting from off the green include a good, clean lie, and smooth terrain between the position of your ball and the edge of the putting surface. I would estimate that about 15 feet is the maximum distance from off the green that you should use the putter.

I advocate the same method for putts from off the green as for long approach putts from the putting surface — try to make the ball reach the cup on its final turn. Don't just aim for the general vicinity of the hole. It is more important on these off-the-green putts to strike the ball solidly in the center of the face of the putter. Hit it just slightly off center, and the whole effect may be spoiled.

Humans burn more calories and use more energy during their first hour of sleep than when they are awake.

Milwaukee Beats Cincinnati Again to Stay Atop NL Race

By FRED DOWN

The Milwaukee Braves owned undisputed possession of first place in the National League today because they're beating the Cincinnati Redlegs at their own game — the home run.

The Braves swept to their seventh victory in eight games and their fourth straight over the Redlegs, 9-2, Friday night with a salvo of four homers that gave them a league-leading total of 13 for the season. Joe Adcock walloped two homers and drove in five runs and Johnny Logan and Del Crandall also homered for the Braves.

Warren Spahn scored his third straight win of the season and the Braves took over first place when the Pittsburgh Pirates knocked out 1955 World Series hero Johnny Podres and beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-1. Rookie Don Cardwell of the Philadelphia Phillies shut out the New York Giants 5-0, in the other N.L. game.

Chisox Beat A's

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox solidified their hold on first place with a 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics after the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees, 6-2, in an afternoon game. In other night games, the Detroit Tigers downed the Cleveland Indians, 5-0, and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Washington Senators, 4-3.

Bob Purkey scattered nine hits for his second win of the season as the Pirates kayoed Podres in 5 1-3 innings. Frank Thomas knocked in three runs for the Pirates with a homer and a single while Duke Snider saved the Dodgers from a shutout with a homer in the eighth frame.

Cardwell, making his first major league start, came up with a four-hitter and struck out four as Johnny Antonelli of the Giants suffered his second loss. Chico Fernandez walloped a three-run homer for the Phillies.

Jim Rivera and Sherm Lollar homered as Billy Pierce gained his second win for the White Sox with late-inning relief help from Bob Keegan. The White Sox now have a 6-1 season's record and four straight victories over the Athletics.

Young Sisler Sizzles

Dave Sisler, son of Hall of Famer George Sisler, beat the Yankees for the second time in a week with a neat seven-hitter. Two unearned runs in the third inning and Jimmy Piersall's three-run homer off relief pitcher Tommy Byrne in the seventh provided the Red Sox with their big runs.

Al Kaline knocked in four runs, three with his first homer of the season, as the Tigers downed the Indians. Duke Maas picked up from the injured Frank Lary in the fourth inning to complete the shutout.

Joe Ginsberg, subbing for the injured Gus Triandos, doubled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning to give the Orioles the decision over the Senators. Ray Moore won his second game for the Orioles and Camilo Pascual suffered his second loss for the Senators.

Villanova Sets Early Pace in Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Villanova had one championship salted down and, with Texas, had its eye on a triple as the 63rd Penn Relays Carnival moved into its final performance today.

The Wildcats, winners in the distance medley Friday, were favored in the sprint medley today and then were set to shoot the works for a win in the classic mile relay.

The talented Texans, easy qualifiers in the 440 and 880 Friday, were favored to sweep the shorter events, and, with Villanova were geared for an all-out shot in the mile.

It was Ron Delaney, Olympic 1,500-meter champion, who made the Villanova distance medley victory a matter of running out the event by a splendid mile anchor leg in a day which saw three Carnival records tumble.

Carnival Record

Greg Bell, Olympic broad jump champion from Indiana, set a Carnival record in the jump at 26 feet, 1½ inches between qualifying for the 100 yards with a 9.8 clocking and running the anchor leg on the Hoosier's 440 and 880 relay teams which qualified for today's finals.

Lew Stieglitz of Connecticut, a six-footer who chased Delany to a record in the IC4A's indoor two-mile last winter, set a record 9:01.7 winning the two-mile over defending champion Jim Beatty of North Carolina.

Another record tumbled when Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem Teachers was clocked in 14 seconds flat winning his heat of the 120 high hurdles, but he has a jump cut out for him today when he faces Olympic king Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College in the finals.

Pirate Fan Hit By Foul Ball

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Michael Good, 59, of nearby Bellevue, was struck on the head by a foul ball batted into the stands at Forbes Field during Friday night's game.

His glasses were shattered and his left eye cut. He was taken to Eye and Ear Hospital.

City Marble Tourney to Begin Mon.

The 1957 Monessen Marble Tournament will open on Monday at Memorial Civic Center.

Tournament Director Frederic Feldman said that fifth and sixth grade students from Vocational and Ben Franklin schools will knuckle-down in opening matches at 4:15 p. m.

Other schools will join the fun later in the week.

Feldman reports that 139 boys have already registered for the event.

As usual, the tourney will be co-sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Recreation Department and Daily Independent.

All boys enrolled in either public or parochial schools in Monessen are eligible for the tourney if they did not reach their 15th birthday prior to April 15.

At Civic Center

All matches will be staged at the specially-constructed indoor ring at Memorial Civic Center.

The popular tournament was revived in 1949 and has been a yearly event since. The 1956 champion was Eugene Ninchak, of Holy Name School, who advanced all the way to the state finals.

Once again the city champion will take part in the VFW regional competition.

Prizes will go to Monessen school champions as well as the eventual city king.

Morrow Seeks Revenge Today

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP) — Triple gold medal Olympic winner Bobby Morrow has waited a full year for this afternoon.

Morrow went to avenge his defeat at the hands of Dave Sime in the 1956 Drake Relays. It was the first defeat of Morrow's collegiate career.

Although Sime won't be around to defend his title, Western Michigan's Ira Murchison gave Morrow fair warning Friday that Morrow was not going to win "in a walk."

Murchison grabbed for the dash in the starting time of :09.5 on a wet and muddy track while Morrow "took it easy" in winning his heat in 10.0.

A sixteen man preserved all Drake Relay records on the first day except one. Al Oerter of Kansas hurled the discus 177 feet, 10 inches, to eclipse the old mark of 172 feet, 11 inches set by Carl Vereen of Georgia Tech in 1955.

Heidelberg Races Begins Tomorrow

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The 1957 automobile racing season opens Sunday at Heidelberg Raceway in nearby Carnegie with more than 100 entries posted for the time trials.

Four tracks in Western Pennsylvania will feature events sponsored by the Pittsburgh Racing Assn. in the summer months.

Washington (Pa.) Raceway opens Thursday night, South Park Speedway, May 4 and Claridge Speedway, May 5.

Ekves Texaco Is Preparing Cars for Those Warm Days

Mr. Car Owner, get your automobile set right now for those very glamorous warm-weather days that make everyone feeling like getting the "old bus" out for a long vacation ride after a tough winter!

That means to protect your car and assure carefree motoring you will want to take it to your favorite service station for a Spring check-over and all that goes with it!

Warm-weather lubrication and new oil of the proper grade in the crankcase are very important in your car preservation program at the change of the seasons such as we are experiencing now.

Common-sense will tell us that old winter oils and greases congeal and cause a needless wear and tear on vital replacement parts. New oils prevents this, saves costly breakdowns and subsequent garage bills. And the cost is so very small it seems a shame indeed to neglect it! The same is true of the negligible cost of putting new oil in the crankcase — you can't afford to do without it.

Have the radiator drained and flushed of anti-freeze unless you prefer to keep your "permanent" in another year.

Tires are important with hot days ahead. Have a good tread on them or trade them in for greater safety.

Your battery should be charged, if needed, or replaced.

Ekves Texaco Service, that one-stop service station at the corner of Manown and Schoonmaker, is getting many cars set for warm-weather driving and will gladly look after yours. Marfak lubrication and new Havoline oil in the crankcase will keep your car on the go.

Drive here for better service right now.

Many Cars Need Body Repairs At This Season

Your automobile has gone through a pretty tough winter in this area and perhaps you were one of the unfortunate ones to have a fender dented or the body of the car damaged.

Doesn't look very good that way, does it?

Or perhaps it has been standing out in the cold, the snow, the rain and sleet so long that the paint is getting cracked and dull looking.

Well, the answer is take it to a skilled auto body and fender repair man and you'll be surprised when it gets through with it. You'll think you are driving in a 1957 model!!

It is surprising what skilled hands, a knowledge of the business, and modern equipment can do today for a wrecked or damaged automobile. Then add a coat of paint and you really will get a thrill out of driving down the street. You won't be ashamed to pass in front of friends and you won't hear them making unkind remarks about the looks of your car.

Frank's Service Garage, 122 East Donner avenue, has a separate department in their business that does nothing but specialize in auto body repairs and car painting.

Sanford Service Will Get Cars Set for Spring

You and your family will get a lot more pleasure from motoring now that warmer days are here in the area, if you'll take your automobile to a good garage for a check-up and a motor tune-up.

It will all cost you very little money and you'll be surprised at the difference in the performance of your car. Besides you'll save on gas and fuel because automotive engineers who have made thorough tests are 100 per cent in their opinion that a car functioning perfectly or near perfect saves in fuel operation.

Have you had your sparkplugs changed in the last 10,000 miles? Here again you'll gain on fuel savings and better performance if you attend to this!

Perhaps the carburetor may need adjusting now since Spring is here. That, too, makes a decided difference in car operation. Have your battery checked, your electrical wiring, but be sure this is all done by an expert who knows his business. It will pay you in the long run to get the best.

You'd be wise to drive to Sanford Service, 267 East Donner avenue and get that car of yours looked over and repaired for finer driving performance.

This is an authorized Dodge-Plymouth service garage but all makes and models of automobiles are also serviced in a thorough manner. Here is utilized ethics and know-how in automobile repairs from which you benefit in better performance and in less costly garage bills.

John Says:

If you car is an "oil-burner", it may console you to know that $50 monthly payments on a new car will buy lots of oil.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of my dear wife Mrs. Mary Orsilli, who died 5 years ago, Sunday, April 28, 1952.
They say time heals all sorrows,
And helps us to forget
But time so far has only proved
How much I miss you yet.
God gave me the strength to fight it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Husband, Bernard Orsilli

In loving memory of our dear father, father-in-law, and grandfather, Bronislaw Sarbiewski, who died eight years ago today, April 27, 1949.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee.
Oh, how we miss you father dear,
No one but God can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no, it isn't true.
For eight long years have passed away,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Sadly missed by his daughter and son-in-law, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Harry C. Junk, who passed away one year ago tomorrow, April 28, 1956
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal,
Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of the ones that will never forget.
Sadly missed by Mr. Harry C. Junk and family

In loving memory of Mrs. Catharine Rabatin who died 1 year ago, April 28, 1956.
She is gone but not forgotten.
We live today with memories
Of days when you were here.
Your smiling face will never leave us
And although you are far away,
In our hearts you will always be near.
Sadly missed by Daughters, Sons and Grandchildren

School Athletes To Be Honored Here Tuesday

John Micheloson, head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, will be speaker at the annual banquet honoring West Newton High School athletes.

The banquet will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in the parish house of Christ Lutheran Church. The affair is sponsored by the three service clubs — Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis.

Dr. R. C. Goehring, head of the banquet committee, said a representative number of star athletes is expected to attend. Among them are Jack Wiley, assistant coach at the University of Pittsburgh; "Corney" Salvaterra, all-American end and Joe Walton, both members of the University of Pittsburgh team which played last year in the Orange Bowl game at Miami, and John Reger, line backer.

Additional entertainment is expected to round out an exceptionally fine program. Tickets are on sale at each of the drug stores or may be obtained from members of the sponsoring clubs and Dr. Goehring.

Home Care for Whooping Cough

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Whooping cough still is a serious threat to young children despite the fact that we have a vaccine which provides immunity. All parents, unfortunately, don't see that their children get this protection.

Be suspicious of any cough that keeps getting worse for two weeks or so. If it's whooping cough, your doctor is the one to treat it.

While the matter of medical care is up to the physician, there are some general rules for you parents to follow in order to help your youngster in every way possible.

Unless the doctor advises it, you don't have to keep the patient in bed. Although plenty of rest is essential, so is a good deal of fresh air.

Dress the tot according to the weather and let him play outdoors — with your doctor's approval, of course. Make sure the patient keeps away from the other children.

If the weather prevents outside play, open at least one window in his room at both the top and the bottom and let him play.

The bedroom should have plenty of fresh air at night, too. But make sure there is no draft and warm the bed before the young patient creeps beneath the covers.

The more fresh air a youngster with whooping cough gets, the better off he probably will be.

Sometimes a spell of coughing will cause the youngster to vomit. If this occurs, give him another meal right away since severe coughing generally is followed by a period of relative quiet.

A sick child, you see, needs food to keep up his strength. So, every time he loses a meal, be sure he gets another quickly.

Question and Answer

M.A.A.: My wife has had an arrested case of tuberculosis for more than a year. Am I in any danger of contacting it?

Answer: If your wife has a non-infectious type of tuberculosis, it is not likely that you would contract the disease from her.

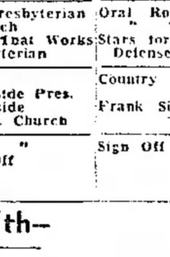
However, periodic tests of her sputum are advisable to determine whether or not the infection has become active again.

Rock 'n' Roll for Birds Gisele Mackenzie Says

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Gisele Mackenzie, exiting from "Your Hit Parade" after a four-year hitch, is all shook up.

"It's the songs," complained Miss Mackenzie today. "They're horrible. Five out of seven tunes on the 'Hit Parade' survey right now are rock 'n' roll tunes. You take something like 'All Shook Up' — awful, the bottom of the barrel.



William Ewald

"I tell you, the tunes are so bad that even my elevator man has stopped watching the show. And that's really something when your own elevator man, right in your building, won't look at your show."

Miss Mackenzie, a Canadian who became a United States citizen on April 1, recalled that only four years ago this nation's musical product was easier on her sanity.

"When I first arrived on the show they were singing things like 'Stranger In Paradise,' 'Moulin Rouge' and 'Ebb Tide' — songs with taste and melody, singer's songs," she said.

"But now we're in a real rut which is one reason, I suppose, why I'm not too unhappy about leaving the show. You know, in our Easter show, they had me as a sleeping princess. The prince woke me with a kiss and I started singing 'All Shook Up.' Can you imagine?

"The choreographer kept telling me—just T-H-I-N-K it's a beautiful ballad. But who can think 'All Shook Up' is a beautiful ballad? You know, some day I'd like to meet Elvis Presley who's responsible for all this. All I'd have to say to him would be—thanks buddy, thanks a lot."

The fault lies in the teenagers, Miss Mackenzie believes. "They buy the records and influence the survey. They buy all these records that sound like a guy is playing on a kazoo or something. I wish the kids would take a tonic or something and get over the whole thing," she said.

Miss Mackenzie, who'll launch her own half-hour variety show on NBC-TV this fall, has been planning to ankle out of "Your Hit Parade" for a year now. Jack Benny's "J and M" firm will produce the new offering.

CARE-FREE HOME — Here is an artist's interpretation of the Care-free home interior, viewing the living room from the front entrance. The home's rear wall (left) is composed of six sliding glass doors which open onto a terrace for true indoor-outdoor living. The central kitchen is located behind the wood-panelled partition (center.)

Simplicity, Convenience Will Feature House of the Future

A major step toward the achievement of a maintenance free home was taken today when Aluminum Company of America disclosed detailed plans for the Alcoa Care-free Home, a new dwelling to be built in selected locations throughout the United States this year.

Featuring both the aesthetic and practical qualities of aluminum from the roof and exterior walls to interior trim and decoration, the residence has been designed to provide spacious beauty and ease of maintenance.

A bright, cheerful atmosphere is guaranteed in Care-free Home's 1,900 square feet of floor space by glass. Thus, the family is able to enjoy the outdoors even in coldest winter months.

Utilizing the latest, most efficient building methods, Care-free Home provides optimum simplicity and convenience. It is a one-floor, slab construction, dwelling with three bedrooms, two baths, and a central core kitchen.

Alcoa currently is enlisting approximately 50 outstanding builders to construct the Alcoa Care-free Home for public exhibition this fall in localities throughout the nation.

Although Care-free Home emphasizes aluminum as the practical, Care-free building material for future residences, it is not an aluminum wonder house. Rather, Architect Charles M. Goodman has combined many materials, among them wood, glass, steel and brick, to create a dwelling unparalleled for beauty, spaciousness, care-freeness, and livability.

In designing the Care-free Home, Architect Goodman heeded the advice of the Women's Congress on Housing held in Washington, D. C., last year.

In addition to simplicity of floor plan, the Congress determined that a house should lend itself to both private and semipublic family living. The dining area should be equally accessible to living room, family room, and kitchen so that children may be familiarized with the polite forms of social living.

The Alcoa Care-free Home satisfies these requirements. It has a living room and family room separated by the dining area, plus a central kitchen, three bedrooms, two baths, heater room, a 88 square-foot storage-workroom, and a two-car carport.

Care-free Home features orderliness derived from the precise separation of private areas, such as bedrooms and baths, from the communal areas of kitchen, dining, and family living. Hallways have been minimized to provide an airy sense of freedom.

For his interior decor, Architect Goodman has combined the tones of selected woods with the beauty of natural aluminum. The combination is most attractive, and incredibly easy to keep clean. Vinyl wall coverings and counter tops have also been used to insure ease of housekeeping.

The end wall of the Home, encompassing living, dining, and family areas, consists of six sliding glass doors framed in aluminum. The sliding doors open out onto a patio, to provide the ultimate in indoor-outdoor living. The central kitchen assures quick access to all parts of the Home. The lady of the house can be in the kitchen and still close to her guests while entertaining. During the day she can watch her youngsters whether they are in the family room or in the yard.

The family room, with its own entrance, helps to keep the living room free from traffic and clutter. And Care-free Home features a cleanup area for children with wet clothes or parents coming in from yard chores. The door is but two steps from a closet and four from a bathroom.

The bathrooms are identical and are centrally located to be easily accessible from all parts of the Home. The three bedrooms are lined up in the rear of Care-free Home, with the master bedroom in the center. Every bedroom has access to a bath without the necessity of going through another bedroom.

The bedrooms also overlook a private garden, flooded with sunshine through a special area cut out of the roof. They are large, 12 by 12 for the smaller ones, 12 by 15 for the master bedroom. All have ample closet space.

Central air-conditioning and heating is provided through a continuous duct installed in the perimeter of the Home. The Care-free Home is insulated throughout with aluminum foil-backed insulation, providing year-round comfort at low cost.

The exterior of Care-free Home has also been designed to feature stylish beauty and freedom from maintenance. The roof is aluminum, eliminating leaks and the possibility of wind damage for many, many years.

The Home is of post and beam construction, featuring 8' by 12' aluminum panels for solid wall areas. The panels are colored and have vertical ribs for added beauty.

Steel Hatchways Come in Sizes

Engineers have developed many special techniques to make steel basement hatchways suitable for special conditions. The hatchways come in three standard sizes to fit over the stairs leading from the basement.

The all-steel units can be raised to any required height by cutting the sides, or given additional length by means of brick or masonry extensions. They also can be installed in corners or where the stairs run parallel to the foundation.

Many Kitchens Get Ponderosa Cabinets

Wood kitchen cabinets — many in ponderosa pine — were installed in 88 percent of all new homes built during the first quarter of 1956, according to a survey by the Bureau of Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor.

One of the chief reasons for this is a growing preference by women for soft, natural wood tones in the kitchen. Clear ponderosa pine is ideal for kitchens since it stains readily in any light or dark tones. It can also be easily painted.

How to Save Time

Save time and trouble when emptying the vacuum cleaner by simply inverting the bag over a galvanized steel garbage can and dumping the contents directly into the can. You'll save an extra mess which usually results when a vacuum cleaner bag is emptied onto a newspaper and carried out.

Portable House Is On Display in N. Y.

NEW YORK (UP)—An ultra-modernistic house that can be folded and stashed in the trunk of an automobile was exhibited here Thursday.

The brainchild of Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, the structure—called the Airhouse—is composed of two giant balloons, one 38 feet in diameter and the other 24 feet. The balloons, connected by a short tunnel, can be inflated and held up by a regular three-ton air conditioner which also cools and warms the interior.

The Airhouse, which is expected to sell for about $2,500, is made of "Fiberthin," a series of vinyl-coated panels sewn together and said to be "almost impossible" to rip, puncture or burn.

The revolutionary house has several drawbacks. For example, if the air pump should fail, residents would have only two hours to clear out before the entire structure collapsed. Should vandals empty the sand from the sandbag "sausages" that keep the Airhouse from floating away, the tenant would come home to a floor full of furniture and not much else.

And while the house can reportedly resist winds "up to 140 miles an hour," no one seems to know what effect a tornado would have.

The model airhouse unveiled Thursday was furnished with ultra-modern furniture, appliances, rugs, a fireplace and room dividers.

A spokesman for the U.S. Rubber Co., which collaborated with Wright and the Irving Chute Co. of Lexington in building the house, said the structure was not "destined to replace homes of brick or wood." Suggested uses included construction and military shelters, storage warehouses and temporary schools.

Cleaning of Walls Needs Equipment

Fireplaces and central heating systems have a way of coating the walls with an accumulation of dirt over the course of winter. Often, these dirt deposits aren't noticed immediately because they are spread so evenly over the entire wall surface. When they are discovered, or when regular cleaning time arrives, these soot and grime deposits may be easily removed by following the right technique.

Equipment for the job includes two pails, one filled with soapy water, the other with rinse water, and a long-handled sponge mop. Apply soapsuds liberally with the sponge mop, starting at the bottom then rinse with clear water. The bottom-to-top technique prevents hart-to-remove streaks from dirty wash water.

Steel Is Most Important Single Material Today

About one-third of all steel produced in this country winds up in or around the home in one form or another. Easy fabrication and a naturally sturdy composition has made steel probably the most important single material in use today.

Its strength, versatility and variety of types enable designers to use steel in one form or another for such things as structural members, hard, high-carbon tools and guns, typewriters, wrist watches, silverware, pots and pans, galvanized steel garbage cans, pails, sprinkling cans, laundry tubs, rubbish burners, automobiles, nuts and bolts, appliances, electrical fixtures, plumbing, belt buckles, clothes hangers and heating ducts to name just a few of the many products in the home made of steel.

Strength and adaptability are not the only assets of products made of steel. They are easily kept clean and are completely fireproof. An ability to "take it" is an automatic feature of steel products.

The United States Treasury never has had a three-dollar bill, but from 1854 to 1890 there was a U. S. three-dollar gold piece.
